

Dr Nobert Jere
Walter Sisulu University

Nobert is a Pan Africanist and holds a PhD in Computer Science and is currently an Associate Professor Walter Sisulu University. His research is centred around sustainable emerging technologies i.e AI, Big data and Machine learning. He has passion on sustainable digital solutions that empower disadvantaged citizens. He is the ICT for sustainable development research niche area. He has published over 50 articles in accredited journals and conference proceedings. He has supervised to completion over 15 Postgraduate students at PhD and Masters level. He is NRF rated researcher.